

July 20, 1970

Dear David,

Separately, I'm sending you Res Publica and my recent article on Singer. They've shortened the review, but the most important things have been kept. I know you're very busy, but if you'll find some spare time to have a look at my article I'd be very grateful for some critical comments.

I wrote it when Chris was away so it must have a number of grammatical and stylistic mistakes but what I'd like you to evaluate is the contents not the language. I presented a Polish version of this article at a conference that took place in Dublin at the end of June. Prof Roman from Israel was there and we joshed about you & the JTS. Two days ago Michael Steinmant showed up in Dublin.

Thank you so much for all the explanations & advice concerning Der Jotn.

This letter is written in a hurry because I have many things to do before leaving for Canada. Chris found a job in Vancouver and we'll stay there for at least one year. Isn't it a crazy thing to do, going to Canada to do work on a Yiddish-Polish translation?

Have a wonderful vacation in Israel. I'll write to you as soon as I'm settled down in V. Give my love to Mame and Chizh. Love
Abraham