Past and Present Perspectives in Jewish Studies
Moscow 23-27 July 2006

Dear Prof. Loskies,

I suddenly realized that the cabbage that you considered spoiled was sauerkraut - Ron mentioned it to me that he'd been going to put it, but I forgot to tell you. I'm so sorry!

Another issue I'm asking you to remind me of next time is the question of your reflection on the art of writing a book, on your personal strategies and choices etc. Your book talk had two basic lines of expansion - a biographical line and a literary one. I simply want to let you know that I appreciated the latter as much as the former. - Actually, nothing is left to be reminded, basically this is what I wanted to say. I will probably have more to add after I read some of your book.

I'll be around after 12:00 (after Pilates). Please let me know your decision concerning the order for Shabbat (we might order herrings & dessert only, Ron will think you have a perverted taste then, but who cares? 😊)

Best wishes,

Schya

P.S.: look at the door of the fridge at the kitchen carefully! 😊
