

The lexicon of sorrow:

,p'loJ ,p'loJ , '13 ,238 , '10'

voiced + unvoiced communication, spoken vs thought

What is noticed + what is unnoticed; implied narrator/speaker who reveals what the lovers do not see

I she sees the nonverbal feeling

II she misses it

Although she grasps his ~~dis~~ disappointment, she nevertheless persists in seeking his help - she is seeking ~~an~~ ^{an} ~~on~~ from him. Her stature/stature as an ~~338~~ ³³⁸ ~~mark~~ as if this were an established office that entitles her to respect or special treatment - Is his sorrow not genuine? But fails to regret it and so it ~~be~~ ^{can} should be placed in the service of hers -

Walter maritime tops thought poem, but here initiated by her - She posits a sea of sorrow is vast enough to contain her ~~troubles~~ troubles however great they should be

Assertion that the sea of sorrow can contain hers - meaning? Even though I put my head on your shoulder (lightness of image), my sorrow is vast + I deal w/ it because I am a ~~238~~ ²³⁸ ~~mark~~ ^{mark} ~~Warden~~ ^{Warden} Woman of suffering - pride of autonomy, she takes care of herself Regret. The turbulence of this sea has an effect on you - its breakers [lit. Heb] are driven toward or into your blue eyes to ^{scatter} ~~bad &~~ disturb them [על-גלגל good example: ~~not~~ eyes but pupils, ^{eyes} your pupils of blue, noun-noun construction] - transfer bet. persons, crossing the boundary of self - why does this happen? Is it inscribed?

vs 8' - paternal effect & authority

16-18 Their conjoint action: he has taken the first step, the heavy lifting - allusion of Jacob at well w/ Rachel, ^{Gen. 29} ~~and Joseph~~ - prelude to matrimony, act of service & rescue -

how the depths of the well, the water there can see the story and yearn for it - now a process of reclamation is possible - the deep water/suffering longs to be raised up & he bids her, ~~to~~ now that he has opened the well, to begin the process, to assert the will to self-healing